Fast Changing world, revolution in communication technology and explosion of knowledge has lead to integrated multidimensional and multicultural contexts of education under the policies of Liberalization, Privatization and Globalization. Traditional methods of training, teaching and learning within monodisciplinary structure are not sufficient to match this change. Criteria for employment and norms for job security are now based on professional competency. So, in the light of this scenario pre-service training and professional learning of teachers need to be regularly upgraded. Now, we need self- monitored professional learning to compete and survive in our professions. The focus of this conference is to study the new concepts of education- revision of teacher training modules on regular basis and ways of continuous self efforts for professional learning to survive in the career.
